

The Leader Journey

Some 77.5 million seasoned leaders will be exiting the workforce at an accelerating pace over the next fifteen years. This poses a profound management problem, as Generation X succeeds the Boomer Generation.

What are you doing today to engage and mentor this generation for the leadership responsibilities they will inherit?

Leader Journey is a regularly facilitated dialog with peers and/or teammates designed to drive real change, moving participants to accept and adopt the character they define. This format brings the organizations mission, vision and values to life in a real and tangible way, driving real alignment.

Groups will typically meet for two hours twice a month to solve real problems, capture real opportunities and explore core leadership concepts that will serve each person for the rest of their careers.
